

SMALL TOWN IN ALSACE CAPTURED BY FRENCH; RIVAL CLAIMS IN EAST

LITTLE AUTHENTIC NEWS
CAN BE GLEANED REGARD
VIOLENT WARFARE IN POLAND.

NIGHT FIGHT ON BZURA

Germans Allowed to Cross River
Unmolested After Which They Were Annihilated in Fierce Bayonet Charge.

The capture by the French of Steinbach, a small Alsatian town near Thann, is admitted in today's statement from the Berlin war office. The advance of the French was preceded by an artillery bombardment which the German statement described as "overwhelming" and which enabled the French to occupy trenches near Steinbach as well as the town of Steinbach. These trenches later were recaptured, according to the German statement.

Except for the fighting along the eastern end of the battle front there is little activity, the German counter-attacks apparently having halted effectively the forward movement which the allies attempted last month.

A few unimportant gains are chronicled in the French official statement which also says that an attempt to capture a village in the Meuse country failed.

The German statement makes no mention of the severe fighting in the east reported by the Russian military authorities. It says merely that the situation is unchanged and that German attacks continue.

Violent fighting is in progress along the eastern battle front leading at points to desperate hand to hand encounters. An official Russian statement shows that after capturing Bialow, the Germans attempted to push on to the northeast in the direction of Warsaw, about thirty miles away. This movement marked a renewal of the German offensive toward the Polish capital, after a period of comparative inactivity, but their advance in this direction is said to have been repulsed with large losses. A remarkable night battle on the banks of the Bzura river is described in Russian communications which says that German forces were permitted to cross the river unmolested and then were attacked with bayonets, without the firing of a shot. It is asserted that several hundred Germans were killed and the remainder surrendered.

In the other campaigns on Europe's battlefield no essential changes are reported. In the Transcaucasian region the Turks and Russians are engaged in fierce struggles, but reports from Petrograd and Constantinople concerning the outcome are at complete variance. In France and Belgium the attacks of the allies have failed to develop into another great battle, and it is believed in London that the attempt to expel the Germans from their conquered territory may be deferred for several months.

London, Jan. 4.—Utterly irreconcilable are the claims of the contending armies in the east. In the west the unprecedented wet weather precluded operations which could give decided advantage to the one or the other side. The activities of the Turks in the Caucasus seem to be assuming an increasing importance. Although not admitting that the Turks have been

PRaises FOR WORK OF U. S. RED CROSS ON SERVICIAN FIELDS

English Nurse Tells of Godsend in Arrival of American Expedition of Medical Assistance.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, Jan. 4.—Work of the American Red Cross hospital in Serbia under direction of Dr. Edward Ryan of Scranton, Pa., has saved many lives in and around Belgrade, according to Miss Emily Simmons, a British Red Cross nurse, who arrived here today on the steamer St. Paul.

Miss Simmons is a graduate of Roosevelt hospital, New York, and was sent with the first British expedition army to France, and from there to Serbia.

Worked at Trenches.

"Since this latter part of August I have been working with the wounded," she said. "With several young English girls, I have worked in the trenches 400 yards from the firing line for 48 hours at a time. The coming of the American unit under Dr. Ryan was a godsend to the Serbians for at least three months we were down to our last bit of bandages, and dressings, and were living on short rations.

"The Serbians were compelled to surrender Belgrade because they were short of ammunition. Up to the arrival of Dr. Ryan and his American nurses the hospital was in constant danger of artillery fire. Dr. Ryan first acted to unroof the American flag over the building. It was instantly respected, and conditions rapidly improved.

"Half of the Serbians are fighting without uniforms. They need medical assistance."

To Care for Prisoners.

Washington, Jan. 4.—To relieve German and Austrian prisoners of war a committee of military officers, principally Americans, will start from Pekin for the interior of Siberia tomorrow, bearing medical supplies and clothing for the Red Cross, and to extend an extension of their work of mercy.

MAKE PROTEST OVER SENDING MUNITIONS OF WAR TO EUROPE

Delegates of German-American Alliance Appear Before Foreign Relations Committee in Congress.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Jan. 4.—Delegates from New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Baltimore, among them representatives of the German-American Alliance, and Ancient Order of Hibernians, appeared today before the house foreign affairs committee to register pending congressional resolutions to stop export of war materials to European belligerents.

C. J. Hexamer of Philadelphia, president of the German-American Alliance, presented memorials adopted by that organization in many states, urging the adoption of one of the resolutions.

"The principal evil growing out of the situation is the damage being done to our commerce," said he. "We should have an immediate inquiry by a special commerce commission to our trade with European countries.

"We should demand that our neutral trade be allowed to go on without interference, and that England be not allowed to prevent us from sending articles that are not directly used in war to Italy, Holland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, and Switzerland, or any other country that desires to buy our goods."

CHEMISTS EMPLOYED IN POISON MYSTERY

Chicago Experts Examine Stomach of Matton, Ill., Woman to Determine if Drugs Caused Death.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Jan. 4.—Contents of the stomach of Mrs. Alice Matton, wife of Dr. Harold B. Matton of Matton, Ill., were to be examined by chemical experts here today in an attempt to determine the nature of the drug which is believed to have caused her death.

Mrs. Matton died under mysterious circumstances in her Matton home on Friday night. Three physicians who examined her soon after her death, were unable to say whether she had been poisoned. C. O. Perce and his wife, Ida, servants in the home, were taken into custody, and the woman's husband placed under surveillance. All three testified at the inquest that they believed the woman committed suicide by swallowing poison.

THOUSANDS WITNESS PHILIPP TAKE OATH AS BADGER GOVERNOR

SIMPLICITY MARKS INAUGURATION CEREMONIES HELD AT MADISON TODAY.

CAPITOL IS CROWDED

Every Section of State is Represented—Hundreds of Milwaukee Citizens Furnish Escort for New Executive.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Jan. 4.—Simple but impressive ceremonies marking the inauguration into office today of the men who will direct the administration of the affairs of state for the next two years. Promptly at noon Chief Justice J. B. Winslow announced to the audience and officials that had gathered in the assembly chamber that he was ready to administer the oath to the newly elected state officers. Each was brought forward in turn and after solemnly taking the oath, signed a written oath.

Of the five state officials inaugurated, two, the governor and lieutenant governor, being their first terms. The other three were re-elected. The officers are:

Governor—Emanuel L. Philipp, Milwaukee.

Lieutenant Governor—Edward F. Dittman, Baraboo.

Secretary of State—John S. Donald, Mt. Horeb.

State Treasurer—Henry Johnson, Oconto.

Attorney General—Walter C. Owen, Malden Road.

Capitol Halls Crowded.

All of the five officials are republicans. Governor Philipp is a conservative and Lieutenant Governor Dittman is a radical. The inauguration ceremonies and the oaths of the officials were the most important of the day. The formal state officers and visiting members of congress and citizens generally. So large were the delegations from Milwaukee and other sections of the state to attend the ceremonies that there were almost as many in the halls of the capitol, who could not gain access, as there were in the chamber proper. The ceremonies were directed by William B. Bagley, chief of the well known law firm of Bagley, Bagley & Bagley, of Milwaukee. There will be no inaugural ball this evening, but during the afternoon receptions were held in the different state offices.

The inauguration ceremonies began early. At 10:30 a. m. the governor's guard formed in front of the capitol and proceeded to the east Madison depot to meet the train carrying Governor-elect Philipp and the delegation of Milwaukee business men. The train arrived at 11 o'clock and the gubernatorial party was immediately escorted by military staff to the capitol. At 11:30 all of the officials, to be inaugurated, with their escorts, had gathered in the executive office, preparatory to marching to the assembly chamber. On the special train were taken to the assembly chamber as soon as they arrived at the capitol.

Order of Procession.

Led by Master of Ceremonies William B. Bagley, with Colonel Salsman, marshal of the day, on his right, the procession was formed in the executive office about 11:45 o'clock and proceeded to the assembly chamber in the following order:

Adolph Kayser, mayor, with Rev. W. J. McKay, chaplain of the day, on his right.

Dr. Charles R. Van Hise, president of the university, with Chief Justice J. B. Winslow.

Francis E. McGovern with Governor-elect Philipp.

Richard Lloyd Jones with Lieutenant Governor-elect Dittman.

Burr W. Jones with Mr. Donald, secretary of state.

T. Richmond with Mr. Johnson, state treasurer-elect.

H. L. Butler with Mr. Owen, attorney general-elect.

M. M. Quaff with C. P. Cary, superintendent of the state construction.

Judge E. Ray Stevens with Mr. Justice Marshall.

Judge John C. Fehandt with Mr. Justice Timlin.

Judge J. C. Zimmerman with Mr. Justice Siebecker.

Dr. Charles H. Vilas with Mr. Justice Barnes.

Alfred T. Rogers with Mr. Justice Kern.

Magnus Swenson with Mr. Justice Vinje.

L. S. Banks with Mr. A. L. Sanborn, federal judge.

E. B. Stensland with Former Governor Philip C. Davidson.

Band Plays "America."

As soon as the oaths had been administered by Chief Justice Winslow and subscribed to, the regiment band played "America." Following this the processions reformed and marched back to the executive chamber. The families of the state officers were then escorted to carriages and taken to their homes.

This afternoon from three to five o'clock receptions for the public were held by the five state officers. The lieutenant governor with his family received in the executive chambers with the governor and his family, aided by a local committee.

The citizens assisting the different state officers at the two-hour receptions were:

With Governor Philipp and Lieutenant Governor Dittman and their families—Major A. H. Kayser, W. A. F. Morris, O. D. Brandenburg, Carl A. Johnson, H. J. Verhulst and E. C. Wiswall.

With Secretary of State Donald and his family—Joseph H. B. D., W. C. Harper, A. C. Larsen and Dr. S. H. Chase.

With State Treasurer Johnson and his family—A. E. Proudt, I. P. Ketchum, John Grinde, W. A. Devine and A. P. McGehee.

With Attorney General Owen and his family—Judge H. M. Lewis, John T. Blake, Frank L. Gilbert and Harry Sauthoff.

Many Legislators Present.

Many of the cities sent delegations and a large number of the members of the new legislature, which will convene Jan. 13, were present at the ceremonies today. Accompanying Governor Philipp to Madison this morning were Mayor Bading of Milwaukee and other city officials. The gubernatorial party included the governor-elect and Mrs. Philipp, Miss Florence Philipp, Josephine and Cyrus Philipp, Miss Elizabeth McCarthy, his confidential stenographer, and Eugene Wuesthoff.

Governor McGovern, who retired to Grip,

SENATE SIDETRACKS SHIP PURCHASE BILL

Appropriation Measures Given Preference in Today's Session Following at Lodge's Demand.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Jan. 4.—The administration ship purchase bill was made the unfinished business of the senate today, but was temporarily laid aside to make way for appropriation bills.

Senator Lodge demanded a record vote which showed 46 for, and 23 against taking up the bill. Senator Vandenberg was the only democrat to vote against the motion.

Senator Gallinger, republican leader, declared congress should pass the supply bills and go home.

"This is springing up opening up great new propositions to the American people, and the country ought to have time for reflection," said he, adding that democratic leaders had declared they had the vote to pass it.

"Yes, we have the vote," rejoined Senator Stone, "and we will put it through if the senators on the other side will not resort to unusually obstructive tactics."

Senator Lodge served notice on the democrats that he would resort to "any parliamentary procedure to delay action for the shipping bill if an attempt were made to jam it through."

GERMAN SOCIALIST GIVES VIEW ON WAR

Leader of Social Democrat Party in Germany Declares Fatherland Will Maintain Victories.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Berlin, Jan. 4.—Dr. Albert Stueckum, the leader of the Social Democratic party in the reichstag, has expressed his attitude on the war as follows:

"We have not changed in our firm conviction that Germany will maintain her victories. Even though our enemies' power and will of resistance are not yet paralyzed they have, on the other hand, not the energy and efficiency to repel us decisively. The sacrifices which day by day our nation has to make are tremendous. It is especially in the ranks of intellectual and business men that the war may be impossible to fill. In any case it will take years to do so. The collaborators in my manual of municipal economy are mostly elderly men and boys still in the ranks of military duty. Yet five of them are dead, and four or five are severely wounded. As in my small circle, so it is unthinkably sad to have to read the newspapers' accounts of the losses."

"It would seem as if the so called neutral countries were showing just a little more reserve of late. Yet it still remains how we are wronged in Switzerland, Italy and even America. The Americans, who have no compunction in supplying England and France with war materials and have not even hesitated to act as a violation of neutrality, really ought to restrain a little their indignant utterances regarding the German nation, firmly knit and hard as steel, and to resist to the last the powerful attacks of its military opponents are a proof that the German cause is a good one. A nation which within is as easily split as we are, and whose people had not regard such demands infeasible sacrifices from us, but we are making them all in the consciousness that we are fighting for our national self, which is threatened by the German enemies, Senegalese, Japanese, Hottentots and their English and French allies."

NATIONAL "AGGIES" ADVOCATE "BUY NOW"

Publishers Propose That Farmers Do Purchasing as Stimulant to Business.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Omaha, Jan. 4.—The Agricultural Publishers' association national in scope, today started a "buy now" campaign to revive business.

PASSENGER TRAINS DELAYED BY CROWDS

Traffic of Yesterday and Today is Extra Heavy With People Returning After Holidays.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Returning holiday excursionists made the roads and turned the commercial turvy railroad schedules of trains into chaos yesterday and today. Crowds undreamed of flocked in every direction. The first signs of heavy passenger traffic was noticeable on Saturday morning when it was necessary to make use of extra coaches and delay trains for many travelers at by-way stations.

Schoolboys and girls home for Christmas and New Years, with thousands of workers formed the mass of humanity that have been traveling during the past two days. Trains arriving here over the railroads this morning carried two and three extra coaches in all cases and were behind their schedules from twenty minutes to three-quarters of an hour.

ARRAIGN YOUNG MAN FOR TOBACCO THEFTS

Leonard Hutchinson, son of Frank Hutchinson, a farmer residing east of the city, was apprehended by the police department late this morning while attempting to sell stolen tobacco at the Jones warehouse. The tobacco men were suspicious of the bundles the youth offered, as they were noticeably different color, and they notified the department.

District Attorney Dunwiddie swore out a warrant charging Hutchinson with petty larceny and he will be arraigned in court before Judge H. L. Maxwell this afternoon.

It is claimed the young man stole eleven bundles of tobacco, three from Sam and Charles Wright and four from a farmer named Gardner. The arrest was made by Patrolman Thomas Morrissey.

An Authentic Test of Advertising

In a large city a test was recently made between street car and newspaper advertising.

A certain article attractively priced was advertised in the street cars for one month.

Seventy-nine sales were made. The same article was then advertised once in one newspaper.

Two hundred sales were made the next day.

If little straw shows the directions of the profit making wind it is a pretty good test of newspaper advertising.

The great merchants prefer newspaper advertising to other medium because returns are better—and costs less.

TO FEATURE CORN AT CHICKEN SHOW JANUARY 11 TO 16

Poultry Association Will Give Silver Trophy to Boy Exhibiting Ten Best Eggs.

Premium lists for the seventh annual exhibit of the Southern Wisconsin Poultry Association, to be held this year, Jan. 11 to 16, at the Madison Hotel, have been mailed. Silver trophies and prizes in large numbers have been freely offered to raisers of fancy birds.

A special feature of the show will be the competition for corn, fostered by the association for boys who have tiled and cultivated a crop of their own during the past summer. For the youngster exhibiting the best ten ears a beautiful silver loving cup will be given. Already the excitement has created so much interest that it was thought highly advisable by the association directors to secure a representative from the state university for the special benefit of the young farmers.

Children of the schools of the city will be guests of the show directors on a day to be determined upon later. A new method will govern the scoring this year. Judging by cornhusk will supercede the old score card system as used in former exhibitions. The comparison judging will be governed under the rules of the American Poultry Association. E. C. Roberts, Port Atkinson, will be in direct charge of this work. Mr. Roberts is a chicken fancier of known standing and has on numerous occasions demonstrated his capability and efficiency in judging birds.

Twenty special silver cups, to become the property of the winners, have been offered by Jansville firms and individuals. Entries will close on Friday night. Stock must be at the Madison Hotel no later than 10 o'clock from tomorrow noon, according to the directions of the association. Special arrangements have been made for the transportation of the birds, to and from the depot, and there will be no danger encountered by owners in the movement of their chickens. It is planned to provide blankets to cover the coops moving between the depot and the exhibit hall.

Already the exhibition coops have been placed in position. Local firms who are planning to exhibit their goods have begun preparation. A feature of the show will also be an additional feature at the show, a glass jar containing a large number will be on exhibition. Five dollars in gold will be given by the New Gas Light Company to the person guessing nearest the correct number of feathers in the jar.

Ornamental fowls and pet stock, as pheasants, pea fowls, cage birds, ferrets, rabbits, cats, Belgian hares, etc., will gladly be admitted to the show free of charge. Exhibitors may furnish attractive exhibition coops and pay all transportation charges.

CLAIM HITCH BARN OWNER BLOCKED ST.

Expect to Determine Whether Transients' Stable Owner Has Violated Traffic Ordinance.

A warrant is expected to be issued against J. Gardner, who is in charge of the East Side Hitch Barn, on the return of City Attorney W. H. Doughterty for the blocking of street traffic on North Bluff and North First Saturday afternoon. Both Chief Champion and Commissioner P. J. Goodman sought to have the man in charge of the barn clear a path for traffic as the rigs were lined so thickly and irregularly as to hinder rigs in passing, but were unsuccessful. It was claimed by the man in charge that the farmers had unhitched the rigs on the street and Gardner, it is said, refused to comply with the requests. In case of a runaway the danger would be great. Chief Champion explained, this morning, and the question of whether or not the hitch barn men were justified in their position should be determined in court.

DESCRIBES TOURS AROUND THE WORLD

William Fulton, For Many Years a Resident of Jansville, Talks at Sunday Y. M. C. A. Meeting.

Before a fair sized audience at the Y. M. C. A. men's meeting held Sunday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. meeting, William Fulton, for many years a resident of this city, and formerly an employee at the Jansville Machine Company, described his trips around the world, his reasons for leaving Jansville, his work of four years in the shipyards on the Clyde river, and of other stirring incidents that fell before him during his years of adventure.

Mr. Fulton is now preparing for the coming year in the city, and is now on a visit to this city from the seminary where he is studying. He expects to conclude his chosen work by next April, when he will give up his position as marine engineer, which work he has been engaged in for many years.

The principal part of his talk was the description of the Straits of Malacca, the scene of the famous Sea battle between the English and German fleets, in which the English were victorious. His knowledge of this battle, and of the war in general, which information was furnished, proved to be so interesting that the meeting concluded. Mr. Fulton was kept for an additional hour by a large group of information-seekers, and more about the war and of his trips.

Mr. Fulton let it be known that he is a personal friend of Lord Kitchener and General French, and was intimately acquainted with the late Lord Roberts. An effort will be made to secure Mr. Fulton to speak at a later meeting, at which time, it is hoped that a much larger audience will be present.

Next Sunday afternoon W. H. "Daddy" Wones will be the speaker at the first Older Boys' meeting in years. Mr. Wones is state boys' work secretary of the Y. M. C. A. and a man with a wide experience. He is the personal friend of more boys than any other man in Wisconsin. Posters have been circulated in the city and small advertisements are being handed out this week. A card can be secured at the association building for the asking.

BAN IS PLACED ON SUNDAY CARD PLAYING

Chief Champion Resolves That City Should be Free of Card Playing.

On Sunday night Chief of Police E. D. Champion made a New Year's resolution for the city of Jansville to be effective at once and to be continued so. It was resolved that there was to be no card playing on Sunday in the billiard or pool rooms of cigar stores. The proprietors were given warning and on Sunday the cards were "discarded" for the entire day. A month's investigation and quiet search convinced Chief Champion that there was too much card playing, not necessarily gambling, in the year and basement rooms of the cigar stores and billiard parlors. While there was not sufficient evidence to cause the arrest of the owners for violation of the gambling ordinance, there were too many young men playing to meet the approval of the police department.

In one case Champion made a trip to the basement room of a popular billiard hall and on nearing the door of the enclosure, a "New Year's" warning to those playing and the door was locked. Within a short space of time the door was unlocked and the players were seen quietly engaged in an "old-fashioned" game of cards. No trace could be found of the tell-tale chips or poker equipment or that money had changed hands in a rummy. Sundays were found to be the record days for attendance at the "card" tables and so Chief Champion ordered down the lid and promises to enforce the ordinance, if there are violations, by court prosecution.

NEW MANAGEMENT FOR MYERS HOTEL

James E. Hamilton Relinquishes Interests to A. Stewart and Wife.

Employees Entertained. Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Stewart have taken over the interests of James E. Hamilton in the Hotel Myers and will shortly incorporate under a state charter. Mr. Stewart is a westerner and has been engaged in ranching near Boise, Idaho, where he has considerable property holdings for some years past. His marriage with Miss Catherine Myers was performed a short while ago.

With the recent improvements which the hotel has underwent during the past summer and fall and with other contemplated changes, it is planned to place the local hotel on a basis with leading hostleries of the state.

On New Year's night Mr. and Mrs. Stewart were hosts to their employees and invited friends in the ordinary. Dancing was in progress until midnight when a sumptuous turkey dinner was served.

SCHOOLS OF CITY OPENED TODAY AFTER VACATION

Students throughout the city this morning returned to their respective schools to take up their studies for the last half of the year, the ending two weeks' vacation. ### NEARLY THREE HUNDRED STAY AT STATION IN MONTH OF DECEMBER

Police records made out by Desk Sergeant William E. Gowen last night during December there were 287 vagrants who were given lodging at the city hall police station. In November there were 230. The cost of feeding the men in December had not been determined, but the amount is nominal.

ENG HOVELAND GIVEN SIX MONTHS IN JAIL

Not wishing to continue his plea of not guilty to the charge of second offense drunkenness after his examination, Eng Hoveland appeared in the municipal court this morning and through his attorney, E. H. Peterson, pleaded guilty. On the recommendation of Attorney Peterson, Hoveland was given six months in the county jail under the commitment law. A plea of not guilty was threatened by the court if he was guilty of another offense. Hoveland was the first prisoner to be received by Sheriff Del Chamberlain.

STOCKMEN SEEKING TO REPAIR RAVAGES OF CATTLE DISEASE

Wisconsin Breeders Plan Campaign to Secure Reimbursement for Losses From State and Nation.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Jan. 4.—Wisconsin stockmen are not only suffering from the ravages of foot and mouth disease, but are also suffering from the loss of their stock due to the disease.

Although Wisconsin stockmen have been suffering from the ravages of foot and mouth disease, they are not alone in their suffering. The disease is also prevalent in other states, and the loss of stock is a heavy burden on the stockmen.

This was in evidence at the meeting of the Wisconsin stockmen's association, which was held in Madison, Wis., on Saturday, Jan. 3.

Although shipments of feeders were made from the Chicago stock yards during the period when infection was most possible, the disease has appeared in but seven counties, and in but few of these have secondary outbreaks been found.

It is thought that with the coming of cold weather the possibility of infection has been practically accomplished, and stockmen are very hopeful that Wisconsin will be safe from further loss and injury.

To Seek Reimbursement. Realizing the importance of the livestock industry to the state and the necessity of encouraging the raising of more and better livestock, the officers of the association have done everything possible to aid the state and federal authorities in combating the disease, and will support the stockmen whose herds have been destroyed in their appeal to the state and federal governments for financial losses sustained in the slaughter of their stock.

One of the directors, Charles L. Hill, who also is the president of the National Dairy Show Exhibitors' Protective Association, reports that the Wisconsin dairy animals retained in the past eight weeks in quarantine in the Union Stock Yards, and but a day or two ago removed to the Hawthorne race track stables, are apparently in splendid condition. The plan now is to keep them in quarantine for experimental purposes and to introduce into the herd stock which is known to be free from the disease and to continue doing this until full immunity has been established.

Postpone Annual Meeting. Owing to the necessity of quarantining the stock barns at the university, the directors have decided to postpone the regular annual meeting of the association until sometime during the summer, when a meeting of the Badger state herdsmen and stockmasters will be called in the Capital City.

A resolution was passed by the directors providing for the interstate commerce commission against proposed increases in livestock freight rates. The reasons for this protest were that difficulties of production have already caused a substantial decrease in the price of livestock, and the distribution of hog cholera and foot and mouth disease have resulted in still further burdening the livestock industry.

Higher rates proposed would place a heavier levy on livestock shipping than upon many of the other industries.

The members of the executive committee of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' Association are: Stephen A. Baird, Waukegan, president; Arthur Broughton, Albany, vice president; L. P. Martiny, Chippewa Falls, treasurer; Andrew W. Hopkins, Madison, secretary; Roy Beebe, Ashland; Charles L. Hill, Rosendale, and Dr. L. A. Wright, Columbus, directors.

THE DEMAGOGUES.

Former President Taft told the congressional committee on the much-mooted Philippine question some plain, cold facts on Saturday that should be carefully considered. Judge Taft is not only an ex-president, but also ex-secretary of war and former governor of the Philippines. He knows the situation from the three positions. First, as governor of the troubled islands; second, as secretary of war, directly over the governor; and next as president, with supreme power. If there is any man in civil life today that could give the congressional committee good advice it is Judge Taft. He knows what he is talking about and when he says that congress should give the islands their freedom at once or state definitely that they do not think they are fit for self-government and postpone their freedom until some future date, he states solid facts that should bear weight. He showed clearly that the jingo talk of Bryan in 1900, when candidate for president, did much to stir up the rebels of the islands who expected immediate freedom, whether fit or not, if he was elected, and when he was defeated settled down, came in and surrendered and were peaceful citizens, until this last uprising brought about by the talk of unwise politicians of the party in power. Promises that can not be fulfilled, that would be criminal to fulfill at this time. It was a plain talk from the shoulder. One which should have its moral effect upon the situation. Congress would do well to stop and direct it before making any further steps in the problem that is bound to be disastrous to a people whom the United States is morally bound to protect—from themselves if need be, but from other nations by force if necessary.

PHILIPP OF WISCONSIN.

At noon today the official term of Emanuel L. Philipp of Milwaukee as governor of the state of Wisconsin began. From now on he is Philipp of Wisconsin. He is the governor of the people, for the people and by the people. No one wants to make any mistakes that he will not be the governor either. Mr. Philipp is a man of strong convictions and one of them is that he was chosen by the voters of Wisconsin as their chief executive and official representative, and he will hold it as a holy trust. No matter what may happen it will be Governor Philipp and not any man's support that sits in the executive chamber at the state capital. He took his office this noon and took over the fair heritage of Wisconsin, despoiled by years of experimental government, government by a few instead of by the masses, with increased taxes, with laws on the statute books that makes government of the people almost a farce, and while his road will be rough and stony the people of the state have confidence in him that he will overcome all obstacles and redeem the fair name of the state by a careful, conservative business administration. Then here is to Philipp of Wisconsin. Our new governor. A man of the people, for the people, and by the people. May good luck attend his term of office.

LATE APPOINTMENTS.

While Governor Francis E. McGovern had the right to make all appointments that came under his jurisdiction is unquestioned, but his latest move in naming all the new members of the state board of agriculture on the eve of his departure from office is a strange proceeding. It would have been courtesy for McGovern to have left these appointments to the incoming official that his term of office might have been most harmonious, but he saw fit to appoint his own personal friends to office as a last gift on Saturday last. Perhaps it is all right but it looks mighty queer to say the least. However it is not so serious a handicap that it can not be overcome so all's well that ends well. When you come right down to it, the state fair is not such an issue after all, but it is to be hoped that new appointments have not been made with a view of displacing the present Secretary McKenzie, who has proved most efficient in the administration of duties, though he may not have pleased the active politicians who sought to use the fair for political purposes.

BELGIUM AGAIN.

Now that the holiday season is past the people of America should not forget their starving brothers and sisters across the ocean. The situation in Belgium has not changed materially since before the holidays. The first of the American vessels laden with supplies had arrived and others were following, but the need is still great. The winter is unusually severe and there is no lessening of the want and destitution. Rock county should do its share in alleviating this suffering and the funds already raised should be augmented by other monies with which the national committee's purchasing supplies can further aid the poverty-stricken nation which has been swept into this war without any provocation and whose lands are devastated and a conqueror's iron hand bearing down upon them.

Russia appears to have diverted the German attack upon Warsaw and thrown its myriads of soldiers into Hungary and Vienna. If this move was accomplished, with Serbia coming up from the south it would be one of the most peaceful calculations of the whole problem that could be made at the present writing. However, there are the Carpathians between Russia and the coveted goal and these mountains hold many surprises in store for the invader.

President Wilson is said to have stated Joseph E. Davies for a position of trust on the new board which takes the place of the department of commerce of which he has been one of the directors. Mr. Davies is a Wisconsin man, born and bred. He is a native son and his advancement is a matter of pride to the state as a whole. Were he but a few years older he would have found a place in the confidential advisers of the president—his cabinet—but as it is he is a power behind the throne despite all that may be done to lessen his official power.

Today our old and new county officials take office for another term of two years. To the old officers who were re-elected at the November election the Gazette gives word of welcome and congratulations. To those who take office for the first time, the Gazette promises them their hearty support and assistance in anything for the betterment of the county affairs. This is a rich and prosperous county and its county officials have important functions to fill. But welcome to all, new and old.

No one should make serious complaint of the snow, except those persons who are forced to tramp through pathless walks where property-owners forget they own the property and the city neglects to remind them of it. It is a blessing that nature gives us and insures good crops, fine gardens and handsome lawns during the coming summer months.

Thus far the English have not proven they were the mistress of the seas as all the naval experts promised when the present war started. On the contrary they have lost vessel after vessel on daring raids of the German submarines and torpedo boat squadrons and still no naval battle of any importance has been fought.

Have you noticed the days are getting longer or have you forgotten this fact in wondering where the money is to come from to pay the January bills? Well, if you have failed to notice it the days are really longer by a few minutes, so speed up and make hay while the light lasts.

The general education board, which disburses the oil king's benefactions to education, still holds $33,939,155.39 of his money, according to a statement issued last week at the board's offices in New York.

Bad Outlook for Honest Citizens.

Observant visitors to the menagerie in Central park, New York, note with amusement a sign on one of the buildings. It is the official home of the park department, and also the police station. On a door nearest the police end of the building is a notice, "No admittance." "If such signs are going up on the police stations," said a visitor, "I'm going to leave my cash home and carry a check book."

Suggest New Danger Colors.

As a substitute for red in danger signals, which is the color less easily distinguished by the color blind, experts have advocated blue circles with wide yellow rims.

PERFORMS MANY PARTS

Newly Designed Piece of Kitchen Furniture to Simplify Work.

To the householder who pays for his water by the number of spigots in the house, the new kitchen fixture shown herewith and the subject of a recent patent grant, will strongly appeal. In this case a single spigot is made to answer several purposes. The new fixture comprises a laundry tub, an ordinary kitchen sink and a wash bowl, all served with hot or cold water by a single spigot. The sink occupies a place immediately over the laundry tub and the water from it is arranged to pass through an extension pipe which causes the two vents to register with each other. When the laundry tub is in service, the sink is raised on its hinges against the wall. When there is no demand for the sink's presence the latter is hidden under a hinged board, which covers it entirely, folding over it. The inventor of this comes from a Pacific slope state, where there is a veritable craze at the present time for simplified housekeeping, and this is one of the many devices which has been designed for the elimination of much of the household drudgery.

TWO CHANGES MADE IN COUNTY OFFICES

CHAMBERLIN BECOMES SHERIFF
AND WHIPPLE SUCCEEDS
BARLASS AT COUNTY
FARM.

START TERMS TODAY

Lee, Smiley, Livermore, Earle and Dunwiddie Continue in Office.
Oaths and Bonds Having Been Filed.

Officers of Rock County who were elected last November assumed their duties today. There were no inaugural ceremonies, as each has filed his oath and bond in due form as prescribed by law and the affairs of the county continued after the usual routine as though the day bore no unusual significance.

In fact there were but two changes in the office register of the officers. A. Odell Chamberlin of Beloit received the keys to the county jail, succeeding C. S. Whipple as sheriff, while Mr. Whipple assumed charge of the county insane asylum and poor farm, taking the place of D. M. Barlass, resigned.

All the other officers of the county hold over from the last term. Howard Lee began his sixth consecutive term as county clerk. E. J. Dunwiddie began his third term as district attorney; F. F. Livermore started his second term as county treasurer; F. F. Smiley succeeds himself as register of deeds for the second time; and Jesse Earle succeeds himself as clerk of the circuit court.

Appointments for county deputy sheriffs had not been completed by Sheriff Chamberlin, so a few of the offices being filled. The new sheriff resigned his position on the Beloit police department last week and with his three daughters will make his home at the jail residence. Experience gained in over fifteen years' service on the Beloit police department should enable the incoming officer to fulfill the duties of the office satisfactorily, for the position demands one versed in the knowledge of county prisoners since the commitment law has proven a success.

William Wogan, turnkey and deputy sheriff during the term of C. S. Whipple, was recommended by Chamberlin to be the county jailer. Wogan has been in the office for some time and his experience in paroling prisoners should be advantageous to the official, as this work was left largely to him. Those who have been appointed by Sheriff Chamberlin are: Charles Qualman, chief of police at Beloit; deputy: Harry Bakke, deputy: George Merrill, under-sheriff; and William Munger, court bailiff at Beloit; Jerome Shimeall, deputy for town of Turle, and Frank Merlet deputy in the town of Newark.

The records compiled by C. S. Whipple show that since September 3, 1913, to the present date, a grand total of $13,618.05 has been earned by commitment law prisoners. Of this amount a total of $1,266.28 was turned over to the county treasurer and $11,563.36 to the dependents of the inmates. The remainder, $9,884.41, was expended by the county authorities for providing the support and necessities for the prisoners.

Mr. Whipple's personal ability stands him in great stead to qualify for the position taken today at the county institution. His appointments made so far have been: Mr. and Mrs. James C. Cutler, caretakers of the insane asylum at night; Mrs. George Henry of Beloit, seamstress; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Whipple, ward attendants; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whipple of Beloit, caretakers of the poor farm; Charles Kreuger, engineer, was appointed to his old position which he has held for a number of years. Miss Lloyd, an employee under Supt. Barlass, will also remain at the institution.

POND &amp; BAILEY TO REMODEL

Six years ago when Pond & Bailey rented the store at 23-25 West Milwaukee street they felt that they were getting a "cheap" deal. The front was old style, with stairway in the center leading to offices on the second floor. At the end of two years they gave a remodeling job which was most successful. The contractors for remodeling, The transformation was wonderful. A modern front, with the stairway moved to one side, 45-feet added to the rear of the store, and a steel ceiling put in the store.

Pond & Bailey feel that the opportunity for which they have been working is now at hand and they do not hesitate to take advantage of it. The west side of the building is a wide-awake Dry Goods Store and they are going to supply it. Contracts for fixtures has been let and they will start the remodeling sale soon. Watch for their ad. NANCY STANTON DIES
AT DAUGHTER'S HOME

Resident of Janesville for 35 Years,
Succumbs at Eight O'clock This Morning—Funeral Wednesday.

Mrs. Nancy Emiline Stanton, wife of the late John C. Stanton, who died February second, 1913, passed peacefully away this morning at eight o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Leonard Jerg, 425 Fourth avenue, at the age of seventy-five years.

Nancy Emiline Dudley was born in Adams, Mass., October 17th, 1840, having spent her early life, she was united in marriage to John C. Stanton in the town of La Prairie, October 17th, 1868, the same day that she celebrated her seventeenth birthday. Two years preceding their marriage, Mr. Stanton came to Rock county from New York state. The couple spent their early married life on a farm, coming to Janesville in 1878, when Mr. Stanton became a grocer, with his store located on North Main street. Mr. and Mrs. Stanton then took up their residence at 101 Cornelia street, October 17th, 1903.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanton celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their Cornelia street home, both enjoying good health. When Mr. Stanton died in 1913, Mrs. Stanton took up her home with her daughter, living with her until her death today.

She was a loyal member of the Rock County Lodge No. 12, a member of the Social and Beneficial club, an old organization of this city. To mourn her loss, she leaves one daughter, Mrs. Cora M. Jerg of this city, and three sons, Charles A. of Waukesha; Merion J. and Harry R. Stanton of Beloit. There were seven children originally, a child dying in infancy, and a son, James Tucker, passing away more recently. She was the last of her family, all her brothers and sisters dying before her.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. S. F. Kilder of the Congregational church at the home of Mrs. Jerg on Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock. Members of the Relief Corps and Rock lodge will take charge of the grave rites. Interment will be made in Oak Hill cemetery.

Carl Naatz.
The funeral of Carl Naatz was held on Sunday morning at eleven o'clock at the home and at one o'clock at the Trinity Lutheran church at Hanover, Wis., where the body was interred in the Grove cemetery.

The Germania society attended the funeral in a body. Mr. Naatz was a charter member of the society. The pallbearers are members of the society and were as follows: Charles Gier, Paul Wolfgram, Charles Nefelt, Herman Gerloff, Louis Kramorn and Herman Ramus. The singers were: Mrs. Beyer, Miss Emma Long, and Messrs. Allen Long and Henry Vogel.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

A QUEER LOVER.

"I know of a young man who thinks a great deal of the girl he is keeping company with," writes a letter friend, "but a good many times in front of other people he acts as if he didn't care much about her and she didn't amount to much anyway. She does not want him silly in front of people but she does want him courteous to her. Isn't it right that he should be?"

Right that he should be, little girl, of course it is. A thousand times right.

When a good man loves a good woman he has no reason to be ashamed of the fact. On the contrary, he should be proud to let the world know it by his attitude towards her. And by that, I mean by his courtesy and his deference, and his manner of restrained tenderness, not by public caresses.

Public Caresses in Bad Taste. As you see, my dear little girl, they are in bad taste, too. The well-bred man does not cross his fiancée in public; the well-bred girl is not forever hovering over her fiancé, or asserting her ownership by picking a thread from his sleeve or straightening his tie. Perhaps the young man of the letter intensely dislikes this sort of thing and tries to show his distaste by flying off on the opposite tangent, by affecting coldness and indifference in the presence of others.

He needs to learn that this extreme is in quite as bad taste as the other, besides being the height of unkindness to her whom he says he loves.

Man's Love is Woman's Crown. Man's love is woman's crown. Every woman who receives a man's love is a queen for a day. To take from her the privilege of wearing her crown before the eyes of other men and women is to take away one of the most precious prerogatives of her queenship and shame her before her sister royalties.

Of course there are women who flaunt their crowns and wield their sceptres with an emphasis that alienates their subjects. No man likes to be ordered about in public, and he will not show his head in the flowery yoke of a woman who does not realize of how much happiness he is depriving her, or how much humiliation he is causing her in withholding the public deference which is her due.

One Kind of Code. Perhaps he is one of those men who cannot bear to make his relations with other women uninteresting to his wife. He is too utterly devoted to her. Let us hope for her sake that he is not. For when that tendency shows itself in a lover it is apt to grow stronger rather than weaker in a husband.

The clock struck eleven on New Year's eve and each stroke was a blow falling on the heart of the little woman sitting in her pleasant living room alone. Yes, alone on the second anniversary of her marriage.

She had tried to read, to sew, to play the piano. She could do nothing. What a sorrow! She had tried to read, to sew, to play the piano. She could do nothing. What a sorrow! She had tried to read, to sew, to play the piano. She could do nothing. What a sorrow!

more than all the money in the world! Like a knell her husband's parting words kept sounding in her ears. "I see there is no use of our trying to argue or even to quarrel peacefully together." He had left her then in anger. What if he never came back?

A silver van over her and she read and republished the gas fire. It was so little, so needless, this quarrel, and she admitted that she was the one who had been the first to lose self-control, as she kept going over the conversation.

Everything had been so pleasant at the supper table, decorated for the anniversary celebration, until her husband had said: "I have decided to return my office, as it is not at all up to date." She had replied: "Oh, don't spend money on office furniture now, Ray. We have hardly got baby's doctor bill paid, and we have almost nothing in the bank."

"It's a business investment. I must not drop behind in the profession, if I don't want to lose practice," he had persisted. "If I have to," she reflected, "everything would have been all right. Instead I got angry and said we would never have anything ahead because of his extravagant ideas and added, 'I am sick of trying to save all alone and let you do the spending.'"

"Look here," he had answered, and she remembered how his eyes blazed. "I am not going to let you spend money on my words. And she had retorted with equal warmth: 'The reason I do not spend more is because there is nothing left to spend when you get through.'"

That had made him white with anger. "The pocketbook with all I earn is in the drawer. You are free to take what you want," and then those words were not his words. "I am alone," she told herself, "going over the throes of this lost game of life, learning by my sorrow."

So intent had she been on her thoughts that she had not heard the door open noiselessly, and not until a hand was laid on her bowed head did she look up.

With a cry of joy she sprang into his arms. He sank into the big easy chair with her in his arms and said softly: "Little wife, this must never happen again. We can't afford this sort of thing. We have decided to divide the earnings with you, so that you may feel independent. Don't you think that plan will work better?"

"Yes, Ray," she whispered, slipping an arm around his neck. "Happy New Year," he cried as the clock began striking twelve.

SEX EQUALITY LEADS TO DIVORCE. (SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) Cleveland, O., Jan. 4.—The feminist movement has appeared in the divorce courts here.

Attorneys and court officials were today authority in stating that the equality problem is bidding with the extreme cruelty for prominence in the majority of divorce petitions now-day.

"It is an indication that wives are going to be regarded as equals of their husbands," said Clerk Harry Nichols of the common pleas court. "Social equality is being demanded in this court every day."

SCION OF WEALTHY CHICAGO PACKER FAMILY TO MARRY A BOSTON BEAUTY

The engagement of P. D. Armour III, scion of the wealthy Chicago packer family of the same name, to Miss Gwendolyn Condon, a Boston beauty, has been announced. Young Armour spends much of his time in the stockyards at Chicago, where he started to work immediately after his twenty-first birthday.

SUPPOSE HE HAD HOLLERED THAT?

Where He Falls. Many a man who knows just what he would do in the other fellow's place never succeeds in doing the right thing in his own place.

Uncle Eben. "Behn' a high-flyer," said Uncle Eben, "simply makes it easier for people to make out de difference between an eagle an' a buzzard."

Among the most popular are Ambassador and Mme. Naon of Argentina, Ambassador and Mme. Suarez-Mujica of Chile, Ambassador and Mme. da Gama of Brazil and Minister and Mme. Pezet of Peru.

EVERYDAY TALKS TO EVERYDAY PEOPLE

BY FRANCES JOYCE KENNEDY.

Before Santa Claus made his annual visit there were casseroles aplenty to be found in the shop windows. Today, you could find a few. A casserole is not a necessity, but it is a delight. The new owners should not fail to temper these dishes well before using them, or their delight will be short lived. To do this place the casserole in a dish of cold water upon the stove, bringing the water, gradually, to a boil and allow the casserole to remain in the water until the water boils. To always use an asbestos mat under your casserole while in use is to prolong its days of usefulness, as too strong heat directly applied is apt to crack it. An asbestos mat placed beneath the dish in the oven will not retard the baking. The recipes following have been sent in with the request to pass them on:

Casserole Eggs: Place casserole in oven when starting the fire for breakfast. When the family is ready remove the hot casserole from the oven, drop a piece of butter in it, break carefully into the casserole as many eggs as you desire, put on cover quickly, place on table in frame. By the time the family are seated and the coffee served, the eggs are nicely cooked.

The second recipe is: One can of corn, one dozen salted vealers, one pint of milk, two tablespoonfuls of butter, salt, pepper. Butter the casserole and beginning with corn alternate the layers, having the vealer crumbs for the last layer. Pour the milk over and bake in a moderate oven for one hour.

The third recipe: Two cupfuls of shredded cold roast beef, four large cooked potatoes, sliced. Alternate layers of each and pour stock or hot water and butter over, season to taste and bake one and one-half hours.

Shaker Apple Sauce: Slice two apples reasonably thin into the baker's and sugar to taste, a pinch of salt, half cup of real boiled cider, place in oven with cover on, baking until the apples are fairly soft. Easily prepared and very satisfactory. Star anise and sugar can be used in place of the cider with good results.

Scalloped Tomatoes: Turn off the juice from a pint can of tomatoes (save the juice for soup), put layer of bread crumbs in bottom of dish, then layer of tomatoes, season with salt, pepper and butter. Continue until dish is full, top layer being bread crumbs. Bake.

Baked Bananas: Cut five or more bananas in two or three lengthwise strips; butter the baker, lay in the bananas, sprinkle with sugar, a few drops of lemon juice on each slice, and a little melted butter poured on top. Bake in moderate oven. Makes

Lady Randolph Churchill. Among the American women who are prominent in war relief work in England is Lady Randolph Churchill. Lady Churchill was formerly Miss Jennie Jerome of New York. She married George Cornwallis-West some years after the death of her first husband, Cornwallis-West, many years younger than she, deserted her to marry Mrs. Pat Campbell, the actress.

It is the baking powder. To make muffins, cakes and pastry rich and moist, yet light and feathery, a modern double acting baking powder must be used—one that will give off leavening gas in the oven as well as in the mixing bowl.

KC BAKING POWDER

is really a blend of two baking powders, one of which starts to raise as soon as moisture is added. The other is inactive until heat is applied. This sustains the raise until your muffins, biscuits or cake is done. K C Baking Powder costs less than the old fashioned quick acting kinds, yet you need use no more and it is superior to them in every way. Try a can at our risk and be convinced.

SAVING IS EASY

It's the Start That Is Hard.

Our plan encourages systematic savings and provides an easy way to save for Christmas or to set aside a certain sum out of your earnings during the year.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING. Precaution Against Blood Poisoning. Physicians tell us that cases of blood poisoning are becoming more numerous because of careless use of using needles in opening eruptions of various kinds. Before use, hold needle in a flame for a second, then thrust it into a piece of antiseptic cotton which has had one or two drops of carbolic acid poured on it. Do not touch the point of the needle before using. When baking loaf cake or fruit ke that takes an hour or more, placing one pan into another pan of the same size and see how nice and brown it is. There is space enough between the two pans to keep it from burning.

THE TABLE. Apple Roll—Cook to a syrup in a dripping pan two cups water, one cup sugar, four tablespoonfuls butter. Make a rich biscuit dough, using four cups flour, one cup sugar, one cup butter, and roll out to four inch thick; cover with sliced cooking apples, sprinkle thickly with brown sugar and dot with butter. Roll up and place in pan of syrup. Bake in hot oven and serve with

CHAPTER III.

The Runaway Car.

ANY man writes down on paper the things he cannot articulate. Thomas Gallon, dreaming of two women, taciturn and silent as he was, wrote down the thoughts which he could not express in speech. His diary, well thumbed, held the history of many a lonely night, but of all these nights there was one that stood out in his mind.

It was the darkness enclosing a woman on a bed. He still heard her whispered cry, "You speak of God, Tom, but I have no religion but motherhood." Before his closed eyes came the vision of a lamp lit, then almost an apparition—the face of his daughter. One life had fled, possibly appalled by the horrors of a world that reeks not of our poor humanity. Yet there was in the dead woman's arms a child, grotesquely asleep, as if unwakened to the sorrows this mother had known.

"Ruth!" he cried. There was no answer from the still woman in the darkness, but thus he had christened his only child.

It seemed to him as if that echo still reverberated from the moon washed hills which marked the site of "The Master Key."

"I am getting old," he thought as he turned the pages of the diary as if unconsciously counting the years since a woman had leaned over his shoulder. "Ruth!" he murmured again.

The problem before him was no longer dim and vague, as it had been in the days of his prime, but absolutely distinct and clear—what was to become of Ruth when he died? With his trained business intelligence he set himself to solve this question.

He reviewed in his mind all the men and women he had known. It was a strange procession. They marched before his sharpened vision, old partners, fresh young girls, mature women, men with cheek books in their hands, men dying of thirst on the desert—and William. He stammered out of his mind the thought of his former partner—the man—was he dead? If he had not died that night in the gulch, if he were still alive, knowing the secret of "The Master Key," who would save Ruth from his vengeance?

Then there rose before his mind the straight, strong, almost austere figure of his mining engineer, John Dorr—youthful, of course, but he had proved himself wholly competent in almost every task that had been given him.

The old man thought more deeply. He recalled his own former years. He himself had broken down the iron barriers of a cold world for the sake of a woman whose image Ruth was. He had seen in John Dorr's eyes the growing flame of love. Long experience had taught the old man that there is no passion so dependable in this world as love.

John Dorr loved Ruth. It needed no monetary bond to assure his fidelity to her interests, and with the sudden, swift, alert step of a man who had made his final decision he went out on the porch and called, "John, John!"

Within the interior of the little house down the hill the engineer of Thomas Gallon's mine had abandoned his blueprints to study the letters on a little penance which represented his first victory, a touchdown on the football field within the last ten seconds of play. He knew better than any one that his mission to Valle Vista was futile. Using every resource at his command, he could find no paying ore, and yet—there was the pennant, the emblem of victory hard fought and hard won. Should he give up now? He heard a clear, stern call from up the hill—"John, John!"

"I'll win out yet for Ruth's sake," he said as he answered that imperious cry.

person" on their lips.

"Harry Wilkerson has found Tom Gallon," she said quietly. "I wonder what will happen?"

Her companion laughed. "Gallon? I had a college mate named 'Dorr,' who is working for a man named 'Gallon' somewhere out in the mines."

The woman's dark eyes lit up, and she seemed more strikingly handsome as she allowed her sudden passion to flood her somber face with color.

"There is money in that mine, George Crane," she said. "But this man Dorr—what sort of chap is he? You mining stockbrokers usually have information as to all these engineers."

The slender man with the shrewd face seated opposite her dropped his eyes. "To tell you the truth, Mrs. Darnell, I never liked John Dorr."

"Neither does Harry," she put in quickly.

The stockbroker looked at his plate a moment and then pulled out his memorandum book. "Listen, Jean," he said in a tone she recognized as utterly businesslike. "Shall I buy 'Master Key' stock?"

"There is a girl back there"—she went on intensely.

Crane looked up swiftly. He caught a glimpse of the jealousy in the woman's eyes. For his own purpose she was most useful, so he snapped the rubber band around his memorandum book, put it back in his pocket and said with finality, "Jean, I'll buy 'Master Key' stock at any price."

Mastering the cry which had come to him from Thomas Gallon's bungalow and realizing that in it was a tone

"Leave it to me."

he had never heard before, John Dorr strode down the hill. As he crossed the gulch he saw the door of the bungalow open, and Ruth appeared.

"I thought I heard your father call," he said awkwardly.

"He was calling you," she answered quietly, "but he went over toward the dump. I think he wants you there."

Ruth laid her little hand on John Dorr's brawny arm. "John," she said, the swift color rising in her cheeks, "I don't want to say anything to make trouble, but father is worried. He trusts you; but, you know, we haven't recovered the lost vein."

John looked her straight in the eye. "Leave it to me."

Her appealing hands crept up his arms, and for one moment she allowed him to read her soul. She made a potent plea, directed by the instinct of a woman who is loved. "John, look after him. He is doing it for me."

Dorr hesitated a moment. It was the first thing Ruth had ever asked him. He felt that he ought to respond to this appeal in some most convincing way, but he could formulate no phrase that would express at once his determination to do everything in his power to help her father and his gratitude that she had taken him into her confidence, so he merely smiled, waved his hand and went down the hill toward the dump beneath the head of the sprawling trestle.

She called him back. "I forgot it was luncheon," she said shyly.

"I must get down to your father," he said rather brusquely.

"Then I'll bring you both down your lunches to the mine," she said. "We can have a little picnic all by ourselves."

As he went up toward the end of the trestle Dorr observed that the engineer running the donkey engine seemed hardly to know his business.

"My dear fellow," he said quietly, "you're allowing too much slack on your cable. It is dangerous. Those ore cars are coming down that trestle too fast. If their brakes give way it means disaster!"

"What's the trouble?" said Gallon, coming up with a piece of ore in his hand.

"I was just telling Bill Tubbs that if he did not keep up the slack on his cable on those cars he would whip them over the end of the trestle," said John.

He turned toward the old man and said in a different voice: "You called me. What is it that you want?" "Look at this, John," said the older man, handing out the piece of ore—"dirt, not gold bearing quartz. I want to talk to you; I've got something to say to you."

Involuntarily John looked down the street. He saw Ruth coming, swinging the lunch basket in her hand. He remembered her shy appeal that he would do the best he could for "The Master Key."

"I think we had better go into the mine; we can talk there," he said.

"They are setting off a blast," Gallon remarked.

Dorr looked up at the car roaring past them overhead and said suddenly: "Before anything else you ought to fix that trestle. Some day a car will go over on the dump."

Gallon looked up and then glanced at Dorr. "I guess you're right, John; I've thought of that myself. Things have kind of gone at loose ends. Now I'll see to it myself with your help, because I have something to say to you."

"There comes Ruth with a basket of lunch," said Dorr.

"Oh, yes. When I am away from the house she often pleads with me here in the mine. Say, I'm going up on the trestle. Have another talk with Tubbs. He is all right, but he has got careless. Tell him to keep up the slack of his cable. I tell you, John, I have wanted to talk to you for a long time, but first I'm going to look after that cable, because I can see you are right and we might have a bad accident."

As the old man started into the mine, putting one foot after the other with that carelessness characteristic of men becoming decrepit, a man ran out of the mouth of the mine waving his arms. Almost instantly following him came a puff of gray-blue smoke, which soared upward and spread out as if it were the blossom of a cloud warmed into full bloom by the hot sunlight pouring down into the valley.

Ruth fell the lunch basket and stared upward at that dark, murky hole in the hill. Was John there? Was her father there? She knew that that bulky cloud blooming into the heavens meant death beneath the ground. Unwillingly she cried, "John!" Then she remembered her filial duty, and her next word, whispered toward that billowing, eddying mass of vapor was "Father!"

Thus do maidens confess to God the secrets of their heart, but let us see how they conceal from men these same sacred mysteries.

Ruth hastened her pace toward the entrance of the mine. The shale gave way under her little feet, but she struggled upward until she reached the trestle. Having lived all her life in a mining camp, there was no terror for her in anything but falling rock. That effusion of smoke floating over the hillside seemed to speak of disaster. She knew the peril of a premature explosion, and she also knew every working of "The Master Key." And again she wondered whether it was John Dorr or her father or both who were stifling for air within that dark tunnel.

She did not see John Dorr talking to the engineer below her, nor did she see the miner who had just left the mine and was scrambling down the ladder. Her thought was that during this noon hour, when both shifts were off duty, her father had gone in and accidentally set off a blast. What blasting was done in "The Master Key" usually took place during the evening, but owing to carelessness it was sometimes the case that all the blasts were not set off. She had seen men belched out of that dark hole before furious gusts of gas. And yet why was the ore car inside? That, too, spelled disaster.

She dropped the lunch basket and pulled out the pocket electric light which she always carried. It burned only a tiny hole in the billowing smoke. She rushed blindly in, trusting to her long familiarity with the tunnel to find her father.

Thus it was that father and daughter passed each other in the darkness; Gallon grimly but silently cursing the awkwardness of his men, Ruth trying to choke out the names of the two men she loved. Suddenly she came into the free air. The little beam of her lamp

showed her nothing but an ore car and the tools dropped by the last shift when they had quit for dinner.

"Father!" she cried, peering into the darkness beyond.

"John!"

She stepped on into the shadow and called again. Her foot slipped on the rough floor of the tunnel, and as she tried to save herself her lamp fell. A moment later she saw a trickle of fire running along toward the heading. It was a fuse leading to a blast that had not yet been shot. With all light gone except that blue flicker, penned in as she was by the ore car, standing there with set brakes, what hope had she? How long would it be before that little gust of flame reached the powder?

Dinner Stories

"So you come from New York," said an English lady to a traveling American. "I suppose, of course, you came from Boston." "Why did you think that?" inquired the New York lady. "Because I supposed all cultivated, intelligent Americans came from Boston." "But what in the world made you think that?" was the natural question. "Oh, I don't know exactly, I think it was a Boston lady who told me."

Among the Monday morning culprits hauled before a Baltimore police magistrate was a darky with no visible means of support. "What occupation have you here in Baltimore?" asked his honor. "Well, Judge," said the darky, "I ain't doing much at present—just circulate round, sah." His honor turned to the clerk of the court and said: "Please enter the fact that this gentleman has been fired from circulating for sixty days."

Distressing Bronchial Coughs "Hang On" and Weaken.

Foley's Honey and Tar easily raises the phlegm and heals the raw inflamed surfaces.

That tight feeling over your chest, and distressing bronchial cough are usually worse at night and you lose the sleep you sorely need to keep up your strength.

Foley's Honey and Tar eases that tight feeling and leaves a healing coating as it glides down the throat. The tickling, rattling cough and hoarseness disappear, and the phlegm is raised easily and copiously. There is more healing in one bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar than in a like quantity of any other cough and cold medicine. It heals to the last drop. W. J. BELLAMY, Clarksville, Ky., writes: "My boy, 20 years old, had bronchial trouble ever since he was a baby. We feared he would go into consumption. I heard of a similar case where Foley's Honey and Tar Cough Remedy was used. I bought a bottle. My son commenced to improve after the first few doses, and the first bottle stopped his stubborn cough. Foley's Honey and Tar has given better satisfaction than any medicine I ever used. I think this wonderful medicine has saved the boy's life."

You save money when you buy Foley's Honey and Tar Cough Remedy, because just a few doses stops the cough and cold, one bottle lasts a long time, and the last dose is as good as the first. Refuse substitutes.

HIGHS AND ALUMNI ON FRIDAY EVENING

Stubborn One.—Old Grads Not Picked as Yet.

With the first basketball contest of the season on Friday evening with the alumni, and with the alumni line-up in doubt to date, the high school quints are worrying wrinkles this week, anticipating an overwhelming defeat by their superiors when the two sides meet.

Everyone predicts a victory for the alumni, except a few optimistic members of the team, who see nothing but a victory. They believe that with little or no drill, the alumni are out of condition, and when matched with a lighter and faster team, with a month of practice stored away, that they will win and by a safe score.

As in former years, it is expected that the large gymnasium at the high school will be filled to its capacity. The annual alumni basketball struggle is the big and only event of the year, in which the old grads and the high school meet in any athletic sport.

Coach Curtis of the high five has named no alumni team as yet. In past years, the alumni have chosen their own team, and have taken every possible chance to form a five that could defeat the high regulars. This year, Curtis is taking the matter in hand, and just what combination he will pit against his players is not known.

In all probabilities, the high school team will be composed of Captain Stickney, Richards, Jones, Rau, Stewart and Kallvelase.

YOUNG SCOTTY MEETS "KID" LEWIS IN SIX ROUND BOUT TONIGHT

Young Scotty will have opportunity of revenging the decision gained over him by "Kid" Lewis, a rival Milwaukee featherweight, when the two meet in a six round bout tonight in Milwaukee. Scotty has lost his two last battles by headline paper decisions through the fact that he tried to box instead of fighting his natural style. In the main bout Billy Kramer meets Jack Dalg of Spring Valley, brother to "Goats." Word from Jones Island shows Scotty confident that he will win by a knock out despite the shortness of the mill.

Inspiring in the Beginning.

Put a little inspiration into the beginning of things. Do not start the day with dragging feet and sighs. Learn a lesson from the birds who, even in the busy nesting time, welcome the sunrise with song, and make the beginning of day a time of rejoicing. The day that begins with inspiration is pretty sure to have achievement to its credit.—Girl's Companion.

JOHNSON-WILLARD FIGHT OF MARCH 17 STIRS INTEREST; WILLARD MAY SHINE

The Jack Johnson-Jess Willard fight to occur March 17 is getting quite a little attention. This seems to be mostly because Willard's chances are thought rather favorable. He is known to be powerful physically and to have a great sledge-hammer wallop. Though Johnson is reported to have grown quite plump he still keeps up his speed say his managers.

JIM COFFROTH MAY STAGE FIGHTS NEAR THE PANAMA CANAL

James Coffroth.

Now that "Sunshine Jim" Coffroth, genial fight promoter of California, has been deprived of a job in the Golden state, it is rumored that he contemplates staging fights down in Panama, just outside of the Canal Zone. Panamanians, as well as Americans on the Canal Zone are very fond of boxing.

claimed that it did not drop in the grounds. On the outfield fences, several business houses had signs painted. "Hit this and get a suit of clothes." "Knock it over here and get a quart of red eye." "Bump this fence and get a dozen Never-Wear-Out socks." etc. The outfielder, not knowing what section his drive had come from, went to all the store and collected a suit of clothes, two bottles of booze, the socks, a hat and a pound of coffee.

Following is a rating of termed lightweight fighters named by James J. Corbett, former heavyweight champion of the world, which may cause a lot of criticism to be heaped on the former pugilist.

1. White McFarland, No. 1.
2. Willie Ritchie, No. 2.
3. Jack Britton, No. 3.
4. Freddie Welsh, No. 4.
5. Young Shugrue, No. 5.
6. Charlie White, No. 6.
7. Johnny Dundee, No. 7.
8. Joe Mandoli, No. 8.
9. Young Taylor, No. 9.
10. Gilbert Gallant, No. 10.

Leach Cross and Joe Rivers bring up the rear. The article was printed in an eastern paper and Corbett said his announcement was on request and that he expected "panning" for some of his opinions. Jim does not include Johnny Griffith and a few others regarded highly in certain sections, while nobody but Corbett would call McFarland a lightweight.

The annual Central association wrestling championships of the Amateur Athletic union will take place on January 14 and 15 at the Illinois Athletic club, Chicago. There will be four divisions, 115, 135, 155 and 175 pounds. Entries close January 9.

BIG BANQUET FOR AUTOMOBILE DEALERS

Twelve Hundred Motor Car Salesmen Will Be Guests of Milwaukee Dealers

At the monster prosperity banquet to be given to the automobile dealers of the state by the Milwaukee Automobile Dealers Association, Governor Philip will join with prominent bankers and manufacturers of the country in spreading the gospel of optimism in business for 1915.

The banquet will be held on "Wisconsin Dealers' Day" at the Milwaukee Auto Show, and every dealer in the state who has taken out a license from the secretary of state's office, has been invited to be the guest of the Milwaukee dealers. Acceptances from over five hundred dealers representing every county have been received and it is expected by Chairman of the Show Committee Geo. W. Browne, who is arranging the banquet, that at least nine hundred of the licensed dealers in the state will be present. The show opens in the Auditorium January 8th and closes January 14th.

NATIONAL AUTO SHOW OPENS AT NEW YORK.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Jan. 4.—Direct drive, centre control, chassis, floating axle and similar technical terms are now on tap at the Grand Central Palace for the annual national automobile show opened today. Nearly 300 exhibitors and manufacturers are exhibiting the newest in gasoline and electric cars and accessories.

New makes of self-starters, patent gear-shifts, speed indicators, lighting systems, horns and so on are on exhibition to indicate the progress of automobile manufacturing during the last year.

One of the features of the show this year will be Society Day when the admission fee will be doubled in order to keep out the more curiosity seekers and attract the prospective purchasers.

The show will continue one week.

Sell your house or any other piece of real estate you may have through the want ad column—the cost is but a trifle.

Amusements

AT MYERS THEATRE.

It is safe to predict that George Kleine's latest photo drama "Between Savage and Tiger," the wonderful Cines story of romance and adventure in the jungle of India, will prove a greater money winner than anything this astute manager has yet produced. There have been jungle pictures produced before and romantic stories located both in Africa and India, but this is positively the first instance where the most exciting adventures with wild animals that are possibly be conceived have been blended with a romantic tale of human interest and is bound to be a tremendous success. Mr. Kleine's production of "Guo Yadi," "The Last Days of Pompeii," and "Antony and Cleopatra," have appealed to lovers of classics and to particular classes of society, but "Between Savage and Tiger" has a big interest for all, young and old, educated and uneducated—everybody can comprehend it and everybody can enjoy it. This wonderful picture will be shown at Myers Theatre on Wednesday evening, January 6th.

AT MYERS THEATRE.

"Under Cover" Rol Cooper Megure's exciting new American melodrama of love, laughter, mystery and thrills, which is proving the supreme triumph of dramatic sensation of each of which cities it is delighting crowded houses nightly, following its record-breaking run of thirty one weeks in Boston last winter, will be on the offering at Myers Theatre on Thursday evening, January 7th, presented under the direction of Selwyn & Company, the enterprising theatrical firm which gave "Within the Law" to the stage. Like its remarkably popular predecessor "Under Cover" is also a melodrama of the modern order, but there are similarities between the two plays ends. "Under Cover" is an appealing narrative of contemporary metropolitan conditions, ingeniously, suspensefully and engrossingly unfolded. Its fresh and unbacked plot is a capital and thrilling story with an unexpected and surprising twist at the end, all set in the relatively new environment of the customs house and its officers high and low and of the fashionable folks amongst whom transatlantic smugglers, rich and suspected, take refuge when the secret service men take to their trail.

There is also a charming love story in which a pretty young woman of fine social position is unwittingly set to spy upon the man she loves. The excellent cast the Selwyns are sending here is the one that appeared at the Plymouth Theatre during the final weeks of the Boston engagement.

AT MYERS THEATRE.

Miss Tottie Dodge, the young prima donna in "Hanky Panky," which will be seen at the Myers Theatre on Tuesday, January 5 is a Texan by birth, and has been on the stage only a little more than three years. She was born in Temple, Texas, the daughter of W. H. Hopkins, chief train dispatcher for the Santa Fe Railroad there. When she was about five years old her parents moved and eventually went to Chicago to live. There the future star received her education, devoting most of her time to music, for she had a remarkably fine voice even as a child.

Everything went well for a time, and then her father lost his money. She decided to help out the family purse by giving lessons and soon she had a large class of pupils. One day she went to visit a girl friend who was in the chorus of a musical comedy at one of the Chicago theatres. At the stage door, where she expected to meet the friend, she met the manager of the company. He mistook her for an applicant for a position, and before she could explain her errand she found herself engaged at $20 a week.

Her advance was rapid after that. She soon became understudy to the star, and when "Hanky Panky" was in the midst of its long run in Chicago, Manager D. L. Bloom saw her and recognized her ability. He engaged her to go to New York with the company, as understudy to the prima donna. On the opening night at the Broadway Theatre, an accident to Christine Neilsen, who was playing the principal role, gave Miss Dodge her chance. With just time to get into the costume, she went on and sang the second act of the piece so successfully that the critics next morning were enthusiastic in praise of her work. She was made alternate prima donna and when Neilsen's contract expired, Miss Dodge became the actual prima donna and has held that position ever since, winning much praise wherever the piece is produced.

At Myers Theatre.

If the advance subscription sale will warrant it, Manager Myers will bring the Gilbert-Sullivan Opera Company to Janesville immediately following their engagement at the Auditorium, Chicago. The company will include De Wolf Hopper and many other noted principals. The opera to be presented will be "The Mikado" and a grand double bill of "Pinafore" and "Trial by Jury." There will be a splendid singing chorus an augmented orchestra and superb costumes and scenic investiture. It is seldom that a city the size of Janesville is fortunate enough to obtain such stellar attractions and if these Opera are brought here it will place Janesville on the map as one of the foremost theatrical cities in the country.

Didn't Quite Mean That.

A Scottish visitor to the Carlyle, Chelsea was much struck with the sound-proof room which the sage had contrived for himself in the attic, lighted from the top, and where no sight or noise from outside could penetrate. "My conscience, this is fine," cried the old friend, with unconscious sarcasm. "Here ye may write and study all the rest of your life, and no human being be one bit the wiser."
